

Art. 7 Legislative Decree no. 196 of 30.06.2003

“Right to access to personal data and other rights”

1. The interested party has the right to obtain confirmation regarding the existence or non-existence of their personal data, even if they are not yet registered, and to said data being communicated in an intelligible manner.

2. The interested party has the right to obtain details regarding:

- a) the origin of the personal data;
- b) their purpose and treatment;
- c) the logic applied in the case of data treatment carried out using electronic equipment;
- d) the identity of the owner, the person responsible, and the designated representative as per article 5, paragraph 2;
- e) the persons or category of persons to whom the personal data may be communicated or who may gain knowledge of said data in the capacity of designated representative in the territory of the State, or as the person responsible or agent.

3. The interested party has the right to obtain:

- a) updates and amendments to the data, or, if desired, integration of the data;
- b) the cancellation, anonymous transformation, or blocking of unlawfully treated data, including data which does not need to be stored given the purpose for which the data was collected or subsequently treated;
- c) certification that the operations in letter a) and b) have been made known, including with regard to their content, to the persons to whom the data has been communicated or disclosed, except in the case where compliance in this regard is not possible or constitutes a manifestly disproportionate use of the protected right.

4. The interested party has the right to object, in whole or in part:

- a) due to legitimate reasons regarding the treatment of stored personal data, even if pertinent to the scope of the data collection;
- b) to the use of personal data for the purposes of sending direct advertising or sales material or for performing market surveys or delivering other types of business communications.
